 gy - gray b - blue gn - green
 br - brown

- On the Moon the sky is always black. The white face of the Moon is turned sunward.
- "Earth" is shown over the night side of the Moon, although Earth is just as often seen from the sunlit side - one can only carry the analogy so far.
- The day/night terminator, instead of perpendicular to the Sun-Earth axis is straight up and down as is the white | green. brown | blue line on the stylized Earth.
